IITGn bags second HUDCO design award

Ahmedabad: The Indian Institute of Technology, Gandhinagar (IITGn), has once again won the HUDCO design awards, and this time in the 'Green Buildings' category. The academic building of the institute was the entry that won the award for its green initiatives, including passive shading and orientation design, extensive use of natural light, use of fly-ash bricks, cavity walls, solar panels, passive cooling technologies, saving pre-existing trees, among others.
